

1. MAKE

One small, finished thing, solving one problem.

THE BESTSELLER CHECKLIST PACK
KR1 PUBLISHING

Named one real problem people already ask about out loud

Aimed it at one real person, not a genre

Scoped it small enough to finish within one week

Parked the sprawling drawer project, without guilt

Made the rough, ugly version before the pretty one

Cut every page that does not serve the one problem

Finished it - done and ugly beats perfect and imaginary

Showed it to two or three people before polishing

2. GIVE

Free buys reach, contacts, and usable feedback.

KR1 PUBLISHING

Released one complete, useful thing for free

Same production quality as the paid work

Follower and mailing toggles switched on before launch

Back matter points at the paid catalog

Started an email list on my own domain

Read every comment and noted what repeats

Screenshotted the good reviews into a praise folder

Resisted judging the release in its first quiet week

3. GROW

Repeat until strangers wait for your next release.

KR1 PUBLISHING

Set a release cadence I can actually keep

Mailed the full list at every release, no exceptions

Ran the loop again: make, give, listen, repeat

Fixed what three different strangers asked for

Built each release to point at the one before it

Kept old titles alive instead of retiring them

Watched for the shift: downloads in hours, familiar names

Judged launches on the one-year window, not week one

4. SELL

Make the value beat the price, and it sells.

KR1 PUBLISHING

Priced a single digit, ending in nine

Kept the core book under five dollars while chasing medals

Cut friction before adding pages

Built a bundle that raises the basket

Put the next book in every back matter

Checked my numbers per order, once a month

Advertised only alongside something new

Started the next release the week after this launch
