Change Log:

Version 1.0 - 14.09.2025: First edition published, edits and typos to be expected
Version 1.1 - 15.09.2025: Changed "part" to "chapter" in some of the chapter headings

FOREWORD

This is your party's shared record and collective memory.

Bring it to every session. Use it to track who you are, what you own, who you've lost, and what you've achieved together.

The Party Ledger is more than a logbook. Inside you will record your bonds and rules, the roster of companions, the bases you claim, the quests you take, the allies you gain, and the enemies you make.

As the pages fill, it becomes your living history. The maps you drew, the treasure you carried, the sessions you played, and the legends you forged.

Years from now, you can open it and see not just individuals, but the story of your party.

Good luck!

CHAPTER 1

THE PARTY

Every group begins with a bond. Some are ragtag bands chasing treasure, others are companies with shared rules and codes. This section defines who you are together. It isn't a contract to hold you down, it is the foundation of your story.

A Party can be serious or playful, strict or loose. It will change over time as your group grows, as members fall, or as new ones join. What matters is that these pages capture who you are, here and now.

Each Party record includes:

- Name: What you're known by
- Motto: A phrase that binds you
- Crest: Words, image, or a sketch
- Rules: How to divide loot, choose expeditions, admit members or settle disputes
- Principles: The ideals you uphold

Example:

- Name: The Company of the Ashen Stag
- Motto: "The forest hides no fear from us."
- Crest: Antlered skull, painted in charcoal
- Rules: Split loot evenly, expeditions by vote, new members must complete a trial
- Principles: Protect maps, never betray an ally

CHAPTER 2

PARTY ROSTER

These are the adventurers who stand together. Record who they are, what they do best, and what makes them memorable.

This is not a full character sheet, just a snapshot of the party as it exists today. Over time, the roster will change as new members join, old ones retire, and others fall.

This section is only for Player Characters. Hirelings, retainers, and other NPCs who travel with you are recorded later.

- Name & Player: Character's name and who plays them.
- Role: What they do best in the party.
- Quirks: Habits, oddities, or personality traits.
- Notes: Connections, debts, or ongoing story hooks.

Example:

Name: Lysa the Quick (Jonas)

Role: Scout, can disarm traps

Quirks: Always volunteers to go first into danger

Notes: Close friend of Marla at the Goat's Horn tavern

HIRELINGS

Not every adventurer carries their own pack or lights their own torch. The party may bring extra hands, like porters, guides, mercenaries or scribes.

Hirelings and retainers are not heroes, but they make survival possible. They carry treasure, hold lanterns, watch the horses, and sometimes join the shield wall.

This chapter records those who travel with you but are not part of the roster. Some remain for years, others for only a single expedition.

- Name: The hireling's name
- Role: What they do (porter, guide, guard, etc.)
- Loyalty: What keeps them loyal or faithful
- Cost: The wage or terms they require
- Traits: Distinctive habits or qualities
- Notes: Special conditions or ties to the party

Example:

1. Name: Jerrik
2. Role: Porter, carries packs and treasure
3. Loyalty: Faithful when treated fairly
4. Cost: 1 sp/day
5. Traits: Grumbles constantly, strong as an ox
6. Notes: Refuses to enter caves after a friend vanished in one

CHAPTER 4

THE HUB

Some parties stay rootless, wandering from place to place. Others claim a home, such as a rented tavern room, a fortified hall, a ship, or even a tower.

The Hub is more than a safe place. It is a symbol of your presence in the world, a gathering point for allies, and a place where stories begin and end. The walls hold your maps, your treasures, and your secrets. The people who eventually staff it become part of your legend.

- Name: What the base is called
- Type: What kind of place it is
- Location: Where it stands
- Features: Useful rooms or traits
- Upgrades: Improvements over time
- Staff: People who maintain it
- Allies: Friends who gather here

Example:

- Name: The Goat's Horn Tavern
- Type: Back room
- Location: Market Street, Blackmoore
- Features: Locked chest, wall map, planning table
- Upgrades: Reinforced door, floor safe
- Staff: Marla the innkeeper (shares rumors)
- Allies: Jerrik the porter

CHAPTER 5

TREASURY

The party's wealth is more than coins. It includes valuables, property, debts, and obligations.

The Treasury shows what you hold, what you owe, and the ongoing costs you must manage.

Track the following:

- Cash: Coins or ready money
- Obligations: Debts or promises you must keep
- Artifacts: Rare or unusual items of value
- Property: Land, buildings, or holdings
- Expenses: Current upkeep such as wages, rent, or dues

Example:

- Cash: 140 silver coins
- Obligations: Owe Miners' Guild for caravan escort
- Artifacts: Silver mirror shard (cursed)
- Property: Back room in Goat's Horn Tavern
- Expenses: 1 sp/day to Jerrik · 5 gp/month rent to Marla

CHAPTER 6

QUESTS

Every expedition begins with a reason. Some are formal contracts, others whispered rumors turned into promises. A quest gives the party purpose.

The record of quests is your trail of deeds. Some will be triumphant, others unfinished or failed, but each one marks the story of your company.

Record who asked for it, what was offered, and how it ended.

- Offered by: Who gave the quest (NPC, faction, or source)
- Task: What must be done or retrieved
- Reward: What was promised in return
- Status: Whether it is active, completed, or failed

Example:

- Offered By: Father Mikael (chapel)
- Task: Retrieve relic from old mine
- Reward: 100 gp and a blessing
- Status: Completed

CHAPTER 7

ALLIES

Adventurers rarely succeed alone. Along the way, your company gains friends and supporters, trusted contacts or powerful factions. Allies may ask for protection, payment, or favors, but in return they offer guidance and skills.

This chapter records those who stand with you and what they bring to your side.

- Name: The ally's name
- Role: What they do or represent
- Loyalty: How strong their bond is to the party
- Cost: Wages, gifts, or conditions of service
- Faction: Group or organization they belong to
- Want: Their needs or goals
- Offer: The help or service they provide
- Notes: Other details worth remembering

Example

- Name: Foreman Darric
- Role: Guild officer
- Loyalty: Friendly after repair commission
- Cost: Expects fair payment for skilled labor
- Faction: Stonemasons' Lodge
- Want: Steady stream of contracts
- Offer: Skilled masons for construction work
- Notes: Prefers written contracts over spoken deals

RIVALS

Some will turn against you, others seek revenge, and some see you as competition. Rivals may plot in shadows or strike openly, but they always shape your story.

Record those who oppose the party and the power they hold.

- Name: The rival's personal name or contact
- Role: What they do or represent
- Loyalty: How firmly they stand against you
- Faction: The larger group they belong to
- Reason: Why they are your enemy
- Strengths: Resources or power they control
- Vow: What they have sworn to do against you
- Notes: Other details worth remembering

Example

- Name: Mistress Elira
- Role: Syndicate lieutenant
- Loyalty: Ruthless loyalty to her guild
- Faction: Silver Syndicate
- Reason: Party killed her smugglers
- Strengths: Hidden vault, network of spies
- Vow: To ruin the company's maps and reputation
- Notes: Prefers ambushes over open fights

SESSION LOGS

Every journey matters. The session log records who went, where they traveled, what happened, and what was gained. It also tracks how much time passed. Over time, these notes become your shared saga.

- Session: Number or title of the session
- Date: When the session was played
- Attended: Which characters joined the expedition
- Route: The path taken or destination reached
- Events: Key moments or discoveries
- Treasure: Loot, rewards, or resources gained
- NPCs: Important people or factions met
- Days passed: How much in-game time elapsed
- Notes: Other details worth remembering

Example

- Session: 12
- Date: 14th of Spring
- Attended: Eldric, Hrothgar, Lysa
- Route: North road to Blackmoore Keep
- Events: Found hidden entrance, Hrothgar slain
- Treasure: 2 silver bars, 1 old scroll
- NPCs: Ghost of Sir Alric (cursed, new quest)
- Days passed: 3
- Notes: The Syndicate symbol was carved into the ruined gate · Eldric suspects a traitor among the porters

CHAPTER 10

ACHIEVEMENTS

Achievements are your party's milestones. Victories, losses, and unforgettable moments that shape your legend. They don't have to be the firsts. They might be the biggest, the strangest, the most dangerous, or simply the most memorable.

This is your hall of fame. Fill it with the deeds people still talk about, the discoveries no one can forget, and the trials that proved who you are as a Party.

Here are some ideas to spark your imagination:

- Dungeon Cleared: A site fully explored or overcome
- Treasure Won: The greatest reward or treasure gained
- Famous Kill: An enemy still remembered
- Map Completed: A route, region, or sector charted
- Alliance Forged: A lasting bond with a faction or ally
- Legend Told: A deed retold as story or rumor

SUGGESTED ACHIEVEMENTS

- First site explored
- Longest journey taken
- Most dangerous path survived
- Most valuable treasure recovered
- First expedition survived
- Greatest loss suffered
- Most memorable combat
- First casualty in the Party
- Most famous foe defeated
- Strongest rival confronted
- Longest alliance maintained
- Greatest betrayal endured
- Most unlikely victory
- Strangest discovery
- Most helpful ally found
- Most trusted hireling
- Most important map completed
- Most persistent enemy
- Most daring escape
- Greatest tale told about the Party

CHAPTER 11

THE GRAVEYARD

Not everyone returns from the wilderness. This chapter honors the fallen. Record their names, how they died, and what impact they left. A graveyard is more than memory, it's a living history of sacrifice and legend.

- Name: The character and who played them
- Death: How they met their end
- Impact: The legacy or change they left behind
- Notes: Extra details worth remembering

Example

- Name: Hrothgar the Bold (Joey)
- Death: Slain by a demon under Blackmoore Keep
- Impact: His map of the northern trail is still used by others
- Notes: Remembered for his booming laugh at campfires

MAPS & SKETCHES

The wilderness is unknown until you draw it. Some maps may come from the GM, showing the wider world or parts of the region. Other maps will be your own, sketched as you travel and explore.

These may be rough, unfinished, or even wrong, but they show where you have been and what you discovered.

The next pages are for your maps and notes. Use them to mark routes, dungeons, and landmarks as your story unfolds.
